About Oregon Basset Hound Rescue

Oregon Basset Hound Rescue exists in order to find homes for Basset Hounds who have been abandoned, dropped off at shelters, or have ended up homeless for some other reason. Bassets available for adoption are placed in foster homes with families while they await their forever home. This allows us to learn about the dog's temperament, evaluate the dog's medical condition and provide needed care, make sure that the dog is spayed or neutered, and then find a home that matches the dog. This quirky loveable breed is dear to our hearts and as long as there is a basset in need there will be a need for organizations such as ours.

Oregon Basset Hound Rescue is a 501(c)(3) non-profit organization. All proceeds from the Oregon Basset Hound Games will be used to support the Rescue.

Basset Games History

The Basset Hound Olympics began in 1990 as a fun event for Emerald Empire Basset Hound Fanciers (EEBHF) club members and their dogs. The games were designed to put together a competition where all members' dogs could compete equally, be they show dogs or family pets. Soon other basset hound owners were invited to come and participate. At that time, EEBHF realized we could help Basset Hounds in need by using a portion of these proceeds to help fund Basset Rescue efforts.

2004 was the rebirth of these events. The wonderful town of Woodburn, Oregon and its Legion Park became the new home of the Basset Games.

Over the past years, EEBHF continued to improve on the event to make it enjoyable and fun for participants and spectators. In 2007, the event was turned over to the Oregon Basset Hound Rescue (OBHR) to continue this annual tradition. If you are thinking of attending these Games, plan on bringing your family and friends, your basset hounds, and a good sense of humor.
